Who should come?

- Families with family members of any age: pre-school children, elementary age, teens or young adults and adults out of school.
- Families who have attended previous events with Erin and families who will attend for the first time.
- Families are welcome to invite friends and family members to participate with them.

How will it benefit you? What can you expect?

During the hands-on part of the evening, people, families, and their friends will:

- Work on a tool of choice with the support of a facilitator, OR
- Continue learning and building on previous experience by working on a new tool.
- Discover how to use your tools at meetings with schools, support organizations and for planning ahead to the next stage of life.

More about this interactive session for families:

Erin will be helping families and friends learn about using tools such as:

- Developing a Vision for the Future
- Trajectory to the Vision
- A One-Page-Profile, and more including NEW tools such as:
 - Communication Charts
 - Communication/Decision-Making agreements
